

“Let’s Talk”—MSTI and Terrorism

NorthWestern Energy says a key reason it wants to build MSTI through greater Whitehall instead of along the federal energy corridor parallel to the existing BPA 500 kV transmission line is the threat of a terrorist strike on the lines. But why create a terrorism target through our community and along major roadways? Shouldn’t such a target be on public land and away from communities? Who will pay for continuous security as well as for first response should a terrorist strike occur?
